

HOT RODDER'S DELIGHT: Area car buffs can take a look at some of the top hot rod show cars in the nation this weekend—just by driving out to the Hilton Inn in Benton township. Hot rodders from around the country converged on Berrien county Friday for the three-day National Hot Rod Run, sponsored by the Michigan Hot Rod association and Popular Hot Rodding magazine. Early arrivals included the "Red Baron" and "Bug's Buggy"—consistent winners on the national show car circuit.

SHOW-CAR LINEUP: Bill Raboush, Detroit, co-chairman of the National Hot Rod Run, takes a look at cars arriving for the three-day conclave. Cars are pre-1948 vintage, with body modifications, engine conversions and sparkling paint and chrome decorations. Many of the cars were driven to Berrien from around the country, while others arrived by semi-trailer or were towed to protect the expensive vehicles.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — Heavily armed policemen and soldiers threw a dragnet around Montevideo today in a search for guerrillas who kidnapped a U.S. Embassy official and a Brazilian diplomat and demanded the release of political prisoners as ransom.

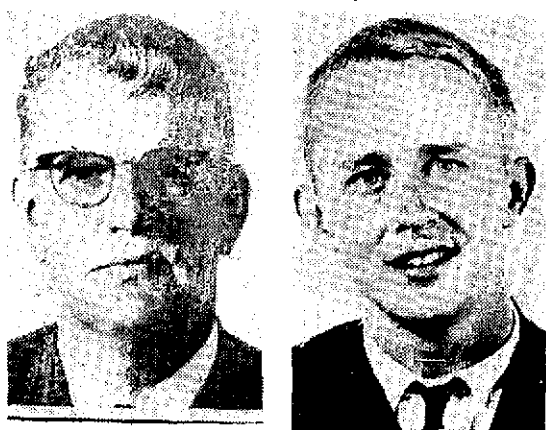

The American, Dan A. Mitrone, 50, a public safety adviser for the Agency for International Development (AID), was reported shot in the chest when kidnapped by Uruguay's Tupamaro guerrillas Friday.

The Tupamaros, Latin America's oldest urban guerrilla group, also abducted Aloisio Mares Dias Gomide, 41, from his home Friday. Dias Gomide is Brazilian consul and first secretary of the Brazilian Embassy.

TWO TRIES FAIL
The guerrillas failed in simultaneous attempts to kidnap two other U.S. officials.

In a note to the newspaper El Diario, the kidnappers demanded release of an unspecified number of political prisoners. The note also said Mitrone had undergone emergency surgery for a gunshot wound in the chest but that his condition was not grave.

Former European PX Chief Demoted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army has demoted Brig. Gen. Earl F. Cole, a decorated officer who was in charge of the post exchange-PX-system in Europe.

The Army announced Friday that Cole, 50, of Alexandria, Va., was reduced to the rank of colonel and stripped of the Distinguished Service Medal awarded to him in 1968 for his service in Vietnam.

He retired Friday. An Army spokesman said Cole's application for retirement had been pending for some time before it was approved.

The Pentagon said: "The reduction action was taken because he failed to maintain the high degree of personal and professional integrity demanded of general officers while assigned as commanding general, European Exchange System, and as assistant deputy chief of staff for logistics, headquarters U.S. Army, Europe."

The Army declined to elaborate. But it was acknowledged that Cole was called to testify in private before a Senate subcommittee which last fall investigated alleged irregularities in NCO mess operations. The Army has said the exchange system has no responsibility over NCO clubs.

No charges ever have been filed against Cole, the Army said.

Cole's lawyers said any action necessary to reverse the decision of Secretary of the Army Stanley Resor will be taken.

Cole, a Madison County, Neb., native who served more than 20 years in the Army, was decorated for his 2 1/2 years' service as deputy chief of staff for personnel and administration in Vietnam.

Since returning from Europe last fall, Cole has been serving as special assistant to the Army adjutant general here.

Decision Due At South Haven

Township Residents Will Have Final Say

By TOM RENNER

SOUTH HAVEN—A record voter turnout is predicted for Tuesday's primary in South Haven township as the fate of a proposed pari-mutuel race track is decided.

The South Haven Racing Association, Inc., representing a local restaurant owner and a Kalamazoo couple, have proposed to build a track for both harness and thoroughbred horse racing at a cost of $1.5 to $2 million.

The racing association appeared before the South Haven township board on June 15 requesting that the board take action toward approval of the issuance of a license by the Michigan State Racing Commission.

Instead, the township board voted to place the proposition on the primary ballot.

"We felt a project such as this will have a direct effect on almost every resident of the township and thus every registered voter should have a voice in the matter," said Supervisor Richard Bus.

Tuesday's question will read: "Shall the South Haven township board approve the issuance of a license by the Michigan State Racing Commission to the South Haven Racing Association, Inc. for the operation of a pari-mutuel horse racing track within the limits of South Haven township?"

Promoting the track have been South Haven businessman Abe Ashen and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beebe, Sr. of Kalamazoo. They have been represented by assistant Van Buren county prosecutor Ray Barrett of South Haven who is Mrs. Beebe's brother.

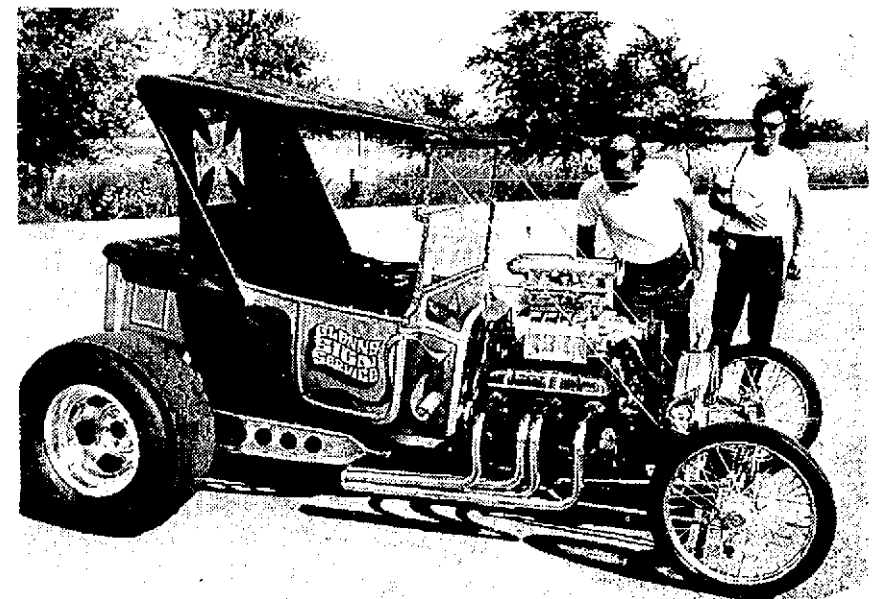

The racing association has proposed to develop the track on a 123 acre tract in the middle of the township on property bordered by Interstate 196, 13rd street, 12th avenue and 15th avenue.

The promoters say that they (See back page, sec. 1, col. 7)

Check Forgery Probe Results In Arrest Of 3 Area Young People

Berrien sheriff's officers have arrested three persons during an investigation of a forgery ring that used a stolen driver's license as identification to cash checks.

Det. Gary Methling reported Friday that more than $1,000 in forged checks have been returned and estimated another $2,000 were outstanding.

Checks were stolen in a burglary earlier this month at Flavor Crisp Chicken, 1686 Colfax avenue, Fairplain.

Methling said forged checks were then cashed at Kalamazoo, Michigan City and other points.

All were payable to a female and the checks were honored after a driver's license was presented for identification.

Charged with uttering and publishing a single forged check is Debbie Less, 17, Baroda, who demanded examination on arraignment in Fifth District court Friday.

Charged with breaking and entering is David Gerald Burrenson, 19, of St. Joseph. The charge was filed against Burrenson while he was in jail on earlier breaking and entering count. He demanded examination on the most recent charge.

Burrenson is now being held under bonds totaling $17,000 from two charges of breaking and entering and one involving possession of LSD for which he was arrested last spring and had posted bond while awaiting circuit court action.

William Michael Bradham, 17, of 273 Eastern avenue, Fairplain pleaded guilty in District court to possession of stolen property under $100. Sentence was deferred pending investigation.

America's Massive Relocation

Although there is a certain justification to complaints from many mayors that the census takers went to sleep on the job, preliminary reports on the 1970 head count confirm what has been fairly obvious for a generation.

City population is going down, suburban dwellers are gaining, and the farm-small town residency appears to have reached a plateau.

The Census Bureau forecasts the completed count will give the suburbs a clearcut 35 per cent of the U.S. total population. The cities will be in a 25-30 per cent bracket. Farms and small towns will range 30-35 per cent.

As late as the 1950 census, the suburbs held third place in that lineup and by 1960 had moved up to a second place tie with farms and small towns.

It is the first reaction from the politicians as to what effect the 1970 result will have on them. The one man-one vote rule from the courts may require re-districting of some Congressional seats, and can easily extend downward through the state legislatures and local bodies such as a county board of commissioners.

Natural as is this highly developed sense of self preservation, the important question is how the governmental structure should adjust itself to serve best this latest socio-economic trend. It particularly crucial within the states where resistance to change is the strongest.

Local autonomy is held in the reverence which a numismatist pays to his old coin collection, but political boundaries drawn a century or more ago hinder rather than help in the human problems, which like water, constantly seek their own level.

The 1970 census' implication is clear enough in Michigan.

The city, the village and the township as the basic units of local government are not strong enough by themselves to meet the population challenge.

Something more flexible of a regional nature, not less than of county size, will have to replace the current demarcation if the American dream of local government is to survive and the public is not to be taxed to extinction in paying for a multiplicity of agencies to handle a commonality of problems.

A broader based local government will improve and strengthen local control, giving it the muscle to meet home grown conditions; and allow it to stand on its own to resist the siren's call to run to Lansing or Washington for a handout which always costs more in the long run than if the local unit passed the hat for itself.

Just Can't Dodge Sex

The Democratic party's Committee on National Priorities is in something of a flap over the question of whether the U.S. should have a Madame President.

First, let us hasten to point out that national priorities from the committee's standpoint is the mundane search for campaign issues. What's bugging the public that can be exploited for votes against the Republicans?

Back on April 30th, during a committee meeting at Washington, Rep. Patsy T. Mink, of Hawaii, urged her party "to give the cause of women's rights the highest priority it deserves."

Dr. Edgar F. Berman, of Lutherville, Md., immediately challenged her.

The close personal friend of Hubert Humphrey and formerly his personal physician is a pioneer in heart transplant research and has served the State Department as a consultant on Latin America population and health projects.

The female's familiar hormonal disturbances in menstruation and menopause, he informed Rep. Mink, make a woman a risky executive prospect.

A menopausal President, he said, during a Bay of Pigs crisis or a confrontation with the Soviets in the Cuban missile contretemps, would give him the shivers.

Think Your Car Is A Gas Hog?

Anyone who gripes that his Detroit-built monster is a gas hog with a burning instinct for every service station in sight can take some comfort from this item.

The Saturn rocket, whose engines are the most powerful ever built, gulps 15 tons of kerosene and liquid hydrogen a second. According to whoever figured it out at the National Geographic Society, this translates into a sizzling five inches to the gallon.

Dr. Berman definitely gave Cong. Mink the shivers.

Late in June she sent Humphrey a transcript of the discussion, urging the former Vice President to fire Dr. Berman off the committee.

She likened his remarks to "those who say the Negro is psychologically inferior to the white man."

Hubert replied with the finesse which so endeared Disraeli to Queen Victoria.

"I agree with you," he wrote, "but your argument is with Dr. Berman."

On July 14th, Dr. Berman penned a "Dear Patsy" letter suggesting the angry tone of her note to Humphrey itself expressed "her raging hormonal imbalance."

He concluded with this salutation:

"In any event, I certainly hope that even our 'male-order' relationship does not remain at odds, on the basis of this little contretemps, as I have always admired you, not only for your hardness of purpose but for your restraint and stability as well, under cooler circumstances."

Way back when, the words, menstruation and menopause, rarely appeared outside medical textbooks, and it was taken for granted that "the vapors" or "female trouble," two commonly used expressions, separated women from men psychologically. Women were expected to stay at home and leave affairs of state to the menfolk.

The suffragettes changed that attitude to a degree and today's militant feminists eventually will eliminate certain provisions in the work laws presumably tailored to the sexes' physical differences.

While Gallup or Harris have not polled the question recently, we would guess Dr. Berman's opinion might still be a majority viewpoint.

It is, however, a fading majority if our quick sampling points the way.

Just for the fun of it, we tossed the Berman vs. Mink argument to the GHQ in our household. Her response was a withering, "How's your hormonal balance when you can't find something you misplaced just two minutes ago?"

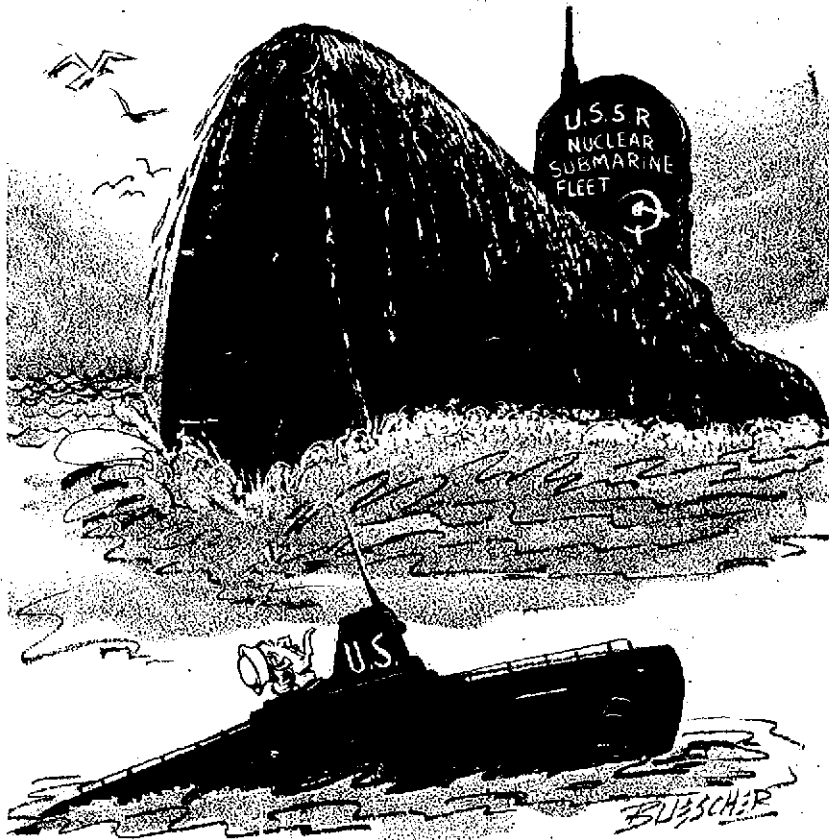

Our Women's Page staff, all Republican minded, we think, poohed poohed Dr. Berman in this wise:

"Doesn't he know there's more than just one Pill?"

"She might need a Secretary of the Pills, but she could do it."

Before the discussion took a more clinical turn, we remembered Catherine the Great in Russia and Queen Elizabeth I of Merrie Olde England, and decided to let Hubert, the titular head of his party, referee the battle of the sexes.

...And Speaking Of Your Health

An oral contraceptive pill for the male has been under study for a long time. A number of them have been developed that have promise.

At the Unit of Reproductive biology in Liverpool, England, a new chemical, Chloro-propane-diol, seems to have accomplished this purpose in experimental animals.

Sperm has been made infertile and therefore the drug may be the forerunner of safer ones for Dr. Coleman.

At the present time, this drug cannot be used in humans because of its risky side-effects. As always, a new light on the horizon leads to further expansion of scientific work and almost inevitably leads to the goal that is hoped for.

Dr. Timothy Glover believes that the preliminary studies are encouraging and will, of course, pursue them.

The ideal male contraceptive pill that is being sought is one whose effects are reliable and can be reversed if children are later to be part of the family program.

The present method of vasectomy is a simple, painless and easily performed operation to make a man infertile. Unfortunately, this slight operation is highly difficult to undo because the vas deferens, which is the tube that carries the male sperm, cannot be re-opened too successfully.

An old idea has been revived which may be of great importance for people who need transfusions after surgery. Many years ago, it was suggested that blood should be taken from a patient before an operation and used if necessary afterwards as a transfusion if required.

Of course, not all patients are in good enough shape to spare their blood at that time. Yet this procedure is used by Dr. J. Ivan T. Langston and his associates in his program at the Augustana Hospital in Chicago.

They believe that there is great value in this type of auto-transfusion because it eliminates many of the side reactions that can accompany transfusions with blood from another human being. It also reduces the possibility of the complication of hepatitis that sometimes follows transfusion.

It is not commonly known that when blood is removed from anyone it quickly stimulates the blood-forming organs to produce and replace this blood within 48 hours.

The strange bone condition known as Paget's disease is being treated with encouraging results by Dr. Ralph S. Goldsmith and Dr. Claude D. Arnaud Jr. with two new types of drugs. One is calcitonin, a hormone of the thyroid gland, and the other is a chemical, orthophosphate.

The preliminary studies are sufficiently satisfying to warrant continuing it for the treatment of disabling and painful Paget's bone disease.

STORM BREWING FOR CHURCHMEN

Sophisticated clergy, such as Rev. Kinsolving, brush aside the growing estrangement between the laity and the leadership of liberal denominations. Evidence of this estrangement is presented in the book "The Gathering Storm in the Churches" by Jeffrey K. Hadden. The author makes the statement:

"The data presented in this study leave little room to doubt that leadership of the church is already dangerously separated from its constituency."

The estrangement is becoming more acute now that key church leaders are becoming more open in their attack on basic morality. It is seen in the following comment which is relative to the Presbyterian report "Sexuality and the Human Community" and similar developments. This comment appeared in the Presbyterian Laymen, July-August, 1970:

"Laymen are prepared to wait, but not too long, while those who rationalize immorality as an acceptable, church-approved 'way of life' decide whether to obey the plain word of God or to honorably vacate their offices. The facts are available for all to know. Now we may well stand or fall as a church on whether we cater to the vagaries of those who have jettisoned God's moral code, or take appropriate action against them."

THANKS, DEAR LORD

Each morning when I wake I pray
I place myself in God today;
I know He is always on my side,
Whatever I do He will me guide.

When roads are dark and I despair,
He is with me and will take care;
I do not have to understand
For I will hold fast to His hand.

Protect the ones so close to my heart,
Let's understand each other, don't keep us apart;
Let's see Your glory and let us depend,
In trouble, give us Your helping hand.

When day is done I go to rest,
I praise the Lord how much I'm blessed;
My thanks I give you Lord and then
I place my life in God again.

RELIGION TODAY

Motel Chain Has Eye For Religious Needs

BY LESTER KINSOLVING
MEMPHIS, Tenn. — As the word Holiday is derived from "holy day," it is perhaps appropriate that Holiday Inn, the world's largest hostelry, is also the most receptive to religion.

For one thing, those who make the more than sixty million reservations a year in the 1,200 Holiday Inns in the U.S. and Canada find that the Gideon Bible is prominently displayed, rather than hidden in a bureau drawer.

Chambermaids are instructed not only to leave the Bible open, but to vary the visible pages from Old to New Testament. At company headquarters there is a file of unsolicited letters of appreciation from guests.

These letters express gratitude for comfort or inspiration — often from the very Scriptural passages to which the maids have inadvertently turned.

The maids are also instructed to collect and dispose of religious tracts which outsiders persist in distributing without permission. The company has also stood firm against repeated requests to distribute the Book of Mormon.

On the other hand, the motel chain's international division has just decided that in the newly opened Holiday Inn in Fez, Morocco, the Koran may be displayed along with the King James version of the Bible. (Proposed Holiday Inns in Japan present a problem yet unsolved.)

HOUSE CHAPLAIN

Guests in a growing number of Holiday Inns in the U.S. also find cards in their rooms, notifying them that in addition to the house physician and dentist there is a chaplain on call. These inn chaplains are volunteers from among local clergy. They have rendered invaluable assistance in numerous cases of illness, acute loneliness, or death, or intended suicide.

Some 250 of the inns also hold interdenominational Sunday worship services — but always at an early hour so as never to interfere with local church services or Sunday schools. The early hour is also more compatible with the travel plans of guests—as is the "come-as-you-are" invitation (which, if it were extended by all churches, would eliminate an attendance-killer which is on a par with the common cold, the golf course and the boring sermon).

The Inn provides the meeting room (attendance varies from three to 150), a worship kit, (cruet, lectern, electric candles, altar cloth, etc.) and a piano. The clergyman — or sometimes a layman, Bible class or a local chapter of the Gideons — provides hymnals, as well as a willingness to conduct a service lasting not more than 30 minutes: Hymns, Scripture, prayers and sermon — but no offering.

The officiant's one material remuneration for conducting these services is an invitation to Sunday dinner at the Inn, along with his family if he has one. Holiday Inns also provide local churches the service of a free ad in the church directory near the front desk — in contrast to most hotels, where the churches and synagogues must pay for the service.

Coordinator of these religious programs is the full-time chaplain of Holiday Inns, the Rev. W. A. "Dub" Nance, a hearty and congenial 6'4" Methodist, with 30 years experience in the parochial ministry. He also arranges the weekly executive prayer breakfasts as headquarters — which include intercessory prayer and other ministerial assistance for any of the organization's 95,000 employees.

The demands of the chaplain's office (a new Holiday Inn opens every three days) are such that the Rev. Mr. Nance was obliged recently to look for an associate chaplain. Two newspaper ads produced 147 clergy applicants, including five with either Ph.D. or Th.D. degrees.

The establishment of this unique hotel religious program is due primarily to the efforts of the organization's board chairman, Wallace Johnson, a Southern Baptist deacon, and president William Walton, a Presbyterian elder.

Are there no individual innkeepers or franchise holders who, as atheists or agnostics, might resent such a program?

"There may well be some atheists," replied Chaplain Nance, "but they wouldn't be in this business unless they felt obligated to serve their guests."

And since Chaplain Nance has already received inquiries about the religious program from five other leading motel chains, plus fifty other business firms, Holiday Inn may well have launched a major new thrust in the world of religion.

Opening lead — eight of clubs.

The successful rubber bridge player occasionally makes odd-looking plays that turn out to be sensationally effective. For an excellent example of this, consider today's hand where West led a club against three no-trump.

Declarer played the ten from dummy, fully expecting it to win — which it did — and was then faced with the problem of how to play the hand. He realized that West had led the K-J-9-8 of clubs and that he could therefore build up a third trick in clubs by leading a low club to dummy's queen.

It naturally followed that if the diamonds were divided normally, namely 3-2, he could score at least ten tricks consisting of five diamonds, three clubs and the A-K of spades.

But it also occurred to South that the diamonds might be divided 4-1 instead of 3-2, in which case if East had four to the U-9 the contract would be in danger.

So, to protect against this possibility, declarer made the fine play of leading the king of diamonds from dummy at trick two and continuing with ten. When East followed low, South did likewise — and the effect of this resourceful series of plays was that South eventually wound up with a total of ten tricks.

Notes that declarer would inevitably have gone down had he followed the more normal procedure of trying to riddle the diamonds by cashing the A-K-Q. Note also that East could not have protected his diamond holding by covering the ten with the jack.

In effect, declarer played the hand so that if he did lose a diamond trick it would be to the non-dangerous opponent, West. He could not afford to lose one to East because a heart shift might then prove fatal.

A fussy customer in a roadside restaurant took a tentative bite of the piece of pie that had been set before him, grimaced, then snarled at the waiter, "Are you sure this is cherry pie?" "What does it taste like?" snapped the waiter, obviously nettled. "Heaven only knows," the customer shrugged. The waiter had the last word. "If you don't know what it tastes like," he reasoned, "what difference does it make whether it's cherry or not?"

Dr. Zick, Wife Going To Lansing

Surgeon Will Join Medical
Team At Capital

Over 15 years of medical practice in the Twin cities will come to a close for Dr. Luther H. Zick Sept. 1 when he becomes associated with two fellow surgeons in Lansing.

Dr. Zick announced today that he will join Dr. William H. Meade and Dr. Robert G. Combs in the practice of surgery as Lansing Surgical Associates. Dr. Combs is a long-time friend and colleague of Dr. Zick who also took his training at Mayo clinic where Dr. Zick was a surgical resident. The three doctors will practice at 1023 East Michigan avenue, Lansing.

SERVED 51 SCHOOLS

Dr. Zick's wife, Lydia, has been prominent in her own right in the community. She is one of the few women ever to serve on the St. Joseph Board of Education. She was a member four years, from 1964 to 1968, when she retired without seeking re-election.

The Zicks will move to Lansing in early September but plan to retain their home at 425 Ridgeway in St. Joseph for the present. Their new address will be 1107 Burcham drive, East Lansing, 48823.

Their sons, Bob and Tom, will be sophomore and junior at the University of Michigan this fall. The Zicks' daughter, Mrs. David (Ginny) Monroe also lives in East Lansing where her husband is director of East Aeres hall on the Michigan State university campus. The Monroes have a six-month-old son, Robert Thomas.

Prior to coming to the Twin Cities in 1950 Dr. Zick was chief surgeon at the Grand Rapids clinic in Grand Rapids, Minn. A native of Albion, he received his A.B. degree from Albion college and his M.D. from the University of Michigan medical school. He spent his internship and surgical residency at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago and as a captain in the United States Army he served as chief of surgery on several hospital ships. After his army service he spent four years at Mayo clinic going from there to the Grand Rapids, Minn., clinic.

While in the Twin Cities he was first associated with Dr. Robert E. Reagan at 931 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, beginning June 1, 1955, and began private practice in St. Joseph the following year in the new clinical building of Dr. Robert W. Ringer, D.D.S., at 1626 Langley avenue. In 1958 he moved into the present office at 2522 Niles avenue he shares with Dr. Dean K. Ray.

DR. LUTHER ZICK

MRS. LUTHER ZICK

ACTIVE IN ROTARY

He is diplomate of the American Board of Surgery and has been active as a Twin City Rotarian.

Mrs. Zick is a member of St. Joseph-Benton Harbor Branch of the American Association of University Women and has served on its board of directors as vice president and secretary. She is a past board member of the Women's Auxiliary of Memorial hospital, has been an advisor to both a YWCA Y-Teen and a Pilgrim Fellowship youth group at the First Congregational United Church of Christ where the Zicks are members.

Mrs. Zick is a graduate of the University of Illinois with a B.S. degree in nutrition and dietetics. Her dietetic internship was taken in Swedish and King county hospitals in Seattle, Wash., and she worked as a therapeutic dietitian at St. Luke's hospital in Chicago.

But Less Than They Asked For

State Insurance
Chief Worried
By Cost Spiral

LANSING (AP) — Rate hikes averaging 3.7 per cent for Michigan Blue Shield and 3.8 per cent for Michigan Blue Cross have been approved by the State Insurance Bureau.

In announcing approval of the increases Friday, State Insurance Commissioner Russell Van Hooser termed a 7.7 per cent increase asked by Blue Shield "excessive."

Blue Shield is the insurance plan covering physician's charges. Blue Cross covers hospital costs.

NO IMMEDIATE EFFECT

The rate changes for both contracts will be effective for policies renewed between Oct. 1 and Dec. 31.

There will be no increase in rates for senior citizens.

Van Hooser asked both Blue Shield and Blue Cross to develop plans for increasing public representation on their boards of trustees.

A bill to require such an increase in public representation on both boards has passed the House and is awaiting action in the Senate.

It will allow the governor to name 25-member boards with broader citizen representation.

Van Hooser commented in announcing the cut in the amount granted Blue Shield that although it still is in a deficit financial position, the condition should stabilize in the fourth quarter of the year.

"I am very concerned about the continual increases in rates necessitated by the spiraling cost of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield programs," the insurance commissioner said. "It is essential that positive action to control costs be taken as rapidly as possible."

In Detroit, John C. McCabe, president of Blue Shield, said there is no intention at this time to reduce benefits.

"Such a deficit situation cannot be allowed to continue," he added.

M McCabe said subscribers will be asked to help control costs by "exercising every possible restraint in the use of medical care."

The action on the rate increases followed public hearings held in Detroit and Lansing in late June.

General Motors Corp. is the largest customer of the two insurance groups in Michigan.

The Michigan United Auto Workers have been outspoken against such hikes and had asked that no increase at all be allowed either group.

Mediator Asked For BH Talks

State mediation was asked Friday to break a deadlock in contract negotiations between the Benton Harbor board of education and the Benton Harbor Education association representing teachers.

Robert Payne, assistant superintendent for personnel, said a mediator was requested by joint agreement of the board, the board's negotiating team and negotiators for the BHEA.

The issues, Payne said, are money and other items.

Mrs. Ann Hunt and Mrs. Frances Shuck are co-chairmen of the BHEA negotiating team.

Educator Retires

LANSING (AP)—John Harris, 66, is retiring this week after 29 years as supervisor and chief of trade and industrial education for the State Education Department. A native of St. Charles, he joined the department in 1941.

FIRST SERVICES SUNDAY: Congregation of Riverview Park Christian church, formerly the First Christian church, will hold first services Sunday in their new church south of St. Joseph at 2929 Niles avenue, next to Riverview park entrance. Rev. Charles R. Allen said church school will be at 9 a.m. and worship service will be at 10:30 a.m. Move to new building was necessitated when the Unitarian church in St. Joseph, where the congregation of the Christian church had been worshipping, was closed due to structural defects.

Re-Hearing Asked Judge Pondering BH Pension Suit

Benton Harbor's request for a re-hearing in the lawsuit brought by certain city police and firemen against operation of the city's pension plan was taken under study Friday by Berrien county circuit court Judge Chester J. Byrns.

The judge gave attorneys for the police and firemen 30 days to file a reply to the city's request and five days to the city to file a rebuttal.

City Atty. Samuel Henderson said the re-hearing request involved a previous court ruling covering the method of computing pensions for officers retiring with 25 years of service or at age 55.

Under the previous decision, the court held the city was required to pay 30 per cent of the officer's salary.

The city contends the amount should be based on an additional computation involving a g.e.s. City officials have said, under the court determination, the city could go broke.

A group of police and firemen covered by the pension plan filed the suit in a dispute over the city's computation process. They claimed it cut a retiring officer out of pension funds provided for by the plan. They also questioned the use of proceeds of a one-mill tax on property used to help finance the police-fire pension plan and the pension plan covering other city employees.

Zoo Trip Slated For Youngsters

Youngsters in the Tri-CAP summer recreation program in Benton Harbor and Benton township have an opportunity to visit Brookfield Zoo in Chicago on Wednesday.

Wallace L. Dunn, Jr., coordinator of the program said that the zoo trip is the fourth of a series of weekly field trips until the program ends Aug. 28. The youngsters visited the Donald C. Cook Nuclear power plant Friday with an attendance of 119.

Dunn stated that since the trip to Brookfield zoo will be limited in number, registration will be required. Interested youngsters should contact one of the supervisors at the following parks:

Mrs. Lovie Satterfield, Robbins park, Fair and Highland; Eric Jones, Edwards park; Miss Lauraana Aaga, Broadway park; Miss Patricia Robinson, Hall park; and Harold Wheeler, Union park. Deadline for registering will be 3 p.m. Tuesday.

Schedule of the week:
Monday — volleyball, basketball competition.
Tuesday — cookouts.
Wednesday — field trip to Brookfield zoo.

Trouble Just Won't Stay Away

Trouble-prone Valerie Jackson, 21, was arrested by Benton Harbor police Friday on a charge of assault and battery. She was taken into custody on a warrant issued on complaint of a neighbor.

Mrs. Jackson, now of 955 Broadway, has been wounded twice by gunfire during family quarrels in the past year. Her home was the scene of a murder in which an 18-year-old youth was killed during a New Year's party in 1970. Mrs. Jackson was not involved in the slaying.

DEMAND LOWER PRICES

Visits By Blacks Bring Closing Of Two Stores

Two white-owned grocery stores in Benton township were closed this morning as a result of black picketing over alleged high prices.

Charles Cozzolino, proprietor of the Main Grocery and Market, 1015 East Main street, said Maurice Bishop, James Alexander and a group of about 20 persons called on him this morning and demanded he lower prices.

Also closed was the Royal Blue store, Fair and Highland avenues, which was picketed yesterday.

Bishop is head of the Benton Harbor unit of the Southern Christian Leadership conference. Alexander is president of the Young Men's Improvement association. They charged some stores deliberately raise prices on days when ADC checks arrive.

All Around Our Towns

Ex-Mischief Maker Now School Teacher

MEMBERS of the Class of 1935, Benton Harbor High School, will get a bang out of learning that "Shorty" Pavlides is now a teacher.

For, to put it as gently as possible, "Shorty" was one of the class mischiefs. She was also one of the better scholars and a leader in the Tiger bands of that era, which were as famed then as their counterparts are today.

But Helen Pavlides had a bubbling, carefree disposition. No hell-raising; just good spirits. She laughed at the wrong time during assembly programs, ran-not walked-through the halls, came up with a prank or two per week on teachers, and was the best known and probably most popular girl in the class. She was voted class speaker.

NEW CAREER

After high school, Helen eschewed college for government service. Moving to Texas, she worked for IRS, the U.S. Air Force and the International Boundary & Water Commission. Member of a well-known local family, she returned here this week to visit her brother Homer Pavlides, 782 Colfax avenue. And she's in the midst of a new career that came about partly by accident, partly through a tragic experience.

Helen married a chemical engineer, William C. Johnson, who traveled the world directing the installation of oil wells and oil pipelines. A paralyzing ailment cut short his career and finally confined him to the Johnson home in Harlingen, Texas. He was an omnivorous reader. He encouraged his wife to start taking courses toward a college degree. She did to please him. Three years ago he died.

With time on her hands, the new widow went back to college in earnest. And she received her bachelor of science degree in mathematics from Pan American College in Edinburg, Tex. Last year she taught mathematics in San Benito, Tex., high school. This coming year she'll teach math in Harlingen high school. She's thinking about going on for her master's degree.

The majority of her high school students are "Chicanos" — Mexican-Americans. There is a move on foot to teach the Chicanos in Spanish, instead of English. Some educators claim this will help them learn better. Mrs. Johnson doesn't think so.

Her parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pavlides of Sodus, born in Greece.

"I talked Greek until I went to kindergarten. The only way I learned English was because I had to, in school," says Mrs. Johnson.

"If we teach in Spanish, the Chicanos will still be out of luck. They won't know English; they still won't be able to communicate."

Marijuana is a big problem in schools of the Rio Grande Valley, says Mrs. Johnson.

"You can buy it like candy across the river (in Mexico), she explains. Pushers are numerous.

One high school found the best method of control was to turn the problem over to the students. Classes were canceled for two and three-day seminars on drugs. Students obtained their own speakers and counselors. Afterward, pushers found virtually "no sale" in the high school. So they started trying to sell at the junior high, and even grade school level.

Interestingly, according to Mrs. Johnson, the affluent middle class white youngsters seem to pick up the marijuana habit in far greater numbers than the Chicanos.

Not The Same Confusion Abounds For Job Office

"Please help us explain," said Beverly Kiehn, manager of the Manpower, Inc., office, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor. "We provide temporary help to business and industry. We are not a government agency and are not involved in the training of workers."

Mrs. Kiehn said she felt the statement was necessary because of much confusion. Many people believe her office is the Manpower Center which is located at Tri-CAP headquarters, 720 East Main street, Benton Harbor. There is no telephone directory listing for the Manpower Center, so Manpower, Inc., receives a barrage of mistaken calls.

"I got the number of the Manpower Center and here it is: 927-4513," said Mrs. Kiehn. "Our number is 927-3531."

To compound the confusion the official name of the Manpower Center is Comprehensive Multi-Educational Development System.

"We are just plain Manpower, Inc.," Mrs. Kiehn explained. "The temporary help we provide already is skilled in the work to which they are assigned."

The Manpower Center is sponsored by several agencies. It provides attitudinal training and job orientation for the hard-core unemployed.

Mrs. Kiehn said sometimes she spends 5 or 10 minutes trying to explain the difference. She is hopeful that when the new telephone directory comes out in October it will carry the listing "Comprehensive Multi-Educational Development System."

Wild Storm Hits In South Berrien

NOTHING CORNY ABOUT IT: Boy Scouts in troop 71, Gobles, are finding out about business the hard way. They toiled over two acres of corn, nurturing their crop since spring, only to find that prices have to be set by supply and demand. Scouts Randy Erickson (left) and Philip Raleigh, take their turn at stand in downtown Gobles where the troop's some 15 members take turns selling their home grown sweet corn. No one is discouraged though, and plans call for selling the corn for the next several weeks. Scoutmaster is Richard Ward. (Margaret Norman photo)

Lightning, Wind Cause Damage

Funnel Cloud
Spotted By Police
North Of Niles

By SAN DEE WALLACE
Staff Writer

Destructive winds and lightning spawned by a severe summer thunderstorm hit south Berrien county early this morning leaving some roads blocked by trees, a few areas temporarily without electricity, and other damage in the Buchanan area.

A tornado warning was issued by the Niles city police department after two city patrolmen spotted what they believed to be a funnel cloud aloft north of the city. Police said the funnel was about 500 feet in the air, but did not touch down.

Roads in the City of Buchanan and in Buchanan township were reported blocked for a time by uprooted trees and large tree limbs.

No actual velocity of the winds was available. The U.S. Weather Bureau at Grand Rapids and South Bend reported they did not receive any reports from southwestern Michigan.

DIRECT HIT
John Banyon, manager of the Benton Harbor division of Indiana and Michigan Electric company, said today lightning struck a direct hit on the Pokagon station, east of Niles, knocking out power for about 1 1/2 hours. He said line fuses were blown in both the Niles and Buchanan areas.

In the Niles-Buchanan area, Banyon said, four primary lines were downed, either by the high winds or trees falling on the lines.

In the greater Twin Cities area, lightning struck the Crystal station on Britain avenue at 2:40 a.m., Banyon said. A considerable area of Benton township, east of Fair avenue, was affected, he said. Power was restored at 3:45 a.m.

A blown line fuse in the Coloma area knocked out power southeast of Coloma from 12:30 a.m. to 1:55 a.m., Banyon said. Harold Sebasty of the Buchanan township fire department said the department was first called out about 12:45 a.m. when lightning hit a tree starting a fire in a nearby tool shed at the home of Frank Sorensen on South Clear Lake road. Sebasty said the department remained out for several hours helping to clear roads blocked by trees.

He reported at one time Mead, Geyer, East River road, Range line road and Red Bud Trail were all blocked by trees. Roads in the City of Buchanan were also reported blocked by trees or limbs.

Sebasty said a house trailer on Range Line road was moved about three feet off its foundation during the height of the storm. He said he didn't know the name of the occupants, but that it was a family with children. There were no injuries, he said.

A Berrien county sheriff's department patrol car driven by Deputy Dick Hemminger from the Galien sub-station was turned completely round by the winds. He was patrolling the Skyline Plaza area on East Front street.

In Buchanan, a tree was blown down on a roof of a home occupied by Otha Farrell on Elizabeth street. A large willow tree behind the home of William Baker, 607 Oak street, was split in two by lightning with sections of the tree falling on Bakers' car.

WINDOWS OUT
In Bertrand township, Fire Chief Adam Kuntz reported lightning hit an electric pole on Orange road, but no fire resulted. He said the force of the winds blew out windows, and some windows were broken by flying debris.

County, township and city crews were reported out for several hours after the storm clearing roads and warning motorists traveling the blocked roads.

State police from the Niles post reported they received many reports of wires and trees blown down by the storm.

Storm damage was also reported in South Bend where city police said electric power was out in parts of the city for two to three hours. St. Joseph county sheriff's deputies in Indiana said they also had

CREEPING DESTRUCTION: The Michael Blake cottage, about a mile south of South Haven, is grim evidence of the creeping destruction that threatens the bluffs overlooking Lake Michigan in South Haven and as far south as three miles. Since last year every remaining inch of Blake's front yard has slipped down the bank, victim of weather and wave erosion. Citing public law 90-483, South Haven City Manager Albert Pierce is asking for a federally financed erosion control program. He is working through the Michigan department of natural resources, state bureau of water management and the Army Corps of Engineers, which has agreed to a preliminary study meeting. South Haven Township Supervisor Richard Bus says he hopes the township will be included in any study. He says pockets of destruction can be found as far as three miles south of the city at Pilgrim Haven church camp. (Aerial Photo by Adolph Hann)

Rash Of Elections For Pearl District

Fennville Area Residents
Vote Thrice In Week

FENNVILLE — Pearl School district residents will go to the polls three days in a row next week to vote on school millage, annexation to the Fennville district and vote in the general primary election.

The district is a non-high school district with some 150 children and is located near Fennville. About 100 students attend Pearl and about 50 attend junior-senior high school at Saugatuck on a tuition basis.

On Monday residents will vote on a millage proposal requesting 9 mills for operating expenses for one year. Approval will enable Pearl to continue to operate as an independent district and continue to send junior-senior high age students to Saugatuck.

Voters will cast ballots Tuesday for local and state officials in the general primary election. All residents eligible.

On Wednesday, residents will return to the polls to cast ballots on a proposed annexation to the Fennville district. All residents will be eligible to vote because Pearl is a non-registration district.

Residents will vote on four proposals. The first is the question of annexation. The second is whether Pearl will assume a tax levy of 8.5 mills for operating expenses now levied by the Fennville district. The third is to assume Fennville's three mill levy for building and site fund and the fourth is to assume a pro-rated share of the bonded indebtedness of the Fennville district. All four proposals must be approved for the annexation to be effective.

Approval of the annexation ballots would take precedence over all other elections.

Whirlpool Worker's Auto Is Target Of Vandalism

By SANDRA ENGLE
Staff Writer

BERRIEN SPRINGS — An Andrews university senior employed at Whirlpool's St. Joseph division since the corporation's July 13 back-to-work move, said his car was splattered with paint and its tires flattened late Thursday or early Friday morning.

David Buckman, 21, a pre-medical student with a religion major at Andrews, reported to this newspaper his small foreign car had been sprayed with black enamel paint and his tires flattened — apparently by an ice pick — while he was asleep in his apartment in Berrien Springs Thursday night.

He discovered the incident yesterday morning before leaving for work at Whirlpool's plant number 7 in Benton Harbor where he is employed in the plating department.

Buckman, who is working to finance his final year at Andrews, explained: "I'm not bitter toward anyone for what they did to the car and I don't want to antagonize strikers. They have the right to strike, but I too have my personal right to go to work."

COMPLAINT FILED
He filed a complaint with the Berrien Springs village police.

Local 1918, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers (IAM), representing some 1,800 production workers at Whirlpool's St. Joseph division, began the current strike May 11 over a new contract. No settlement of the strike appears in sight as of this date.

VANDALIZED CAR: Black enamel paint is being washed off the car above by its owner David Buckman, an Andrews university student living in Berrien Springs. Person Can Fight Illegal Arrest

LANSING (AP)—"A person may use such reasonable force as is necessary to resist an illegal arrest," the State Appeals Court says in an opinion.

In an unsigned opinion, appeals Judges John H. Gillis, Charles E. Levin and E.E. Bonradallo Friday reversed a decision by Wayne County Circuit Judge John Swainson who refused to grant a new trial for a Dearborn man.

Richard Bonello was arrested in November, 1965, when he sought to protest the arrest of his cousin, Charles Wollas, for driving with a noisy car.

Bonello became involved in a fight with a policeman, who was injured and arrested for resisting a police officer. Bonello contended his protest had been only insulting and, the Appeals Court said, "He also claimed his words, at worst, were insulting and not an obstruction or resistance of an officer in the performance of his duty."

Review of the case, the Appeals Court said, showed the judge at the original trial failed to instruct the jury on the defendant's right to resist an unlawful arrest.

The Appeal Court also said there was conflicting evidence in the case because both Bonello and the policeman contended the other "used abusive language and had initiated the fight."

"Reviewing the record, we find there was sufficient evidence, if believed by the jury, to justify a finding of guilt beyond a reasonable doubt," the court said. The court ordered a new trial.

Cass Officers Arrest 39 In 'Bootleg' Raid

CASSOPOLIS — Cass county sheriff's deputies report they arrested 39 people last night, many of them juveniles, in a raid on what they say was an illegal bootleg operation.

Deputies said they were joined by troopers from the state police post at Niles in the raid on an abandoned store located in Brownsville, three miles southeast of Cassopolis.

The 39 people were all taken into custody and charged with being disorderly persons.

URBAN RENEWAL Niles Owner Bests City's Land Offer

A Berrien county circuit court jury awarded a Niles building owner $29,000 Friday for two parcels of property sought by the Niles urban renewal program through condemnation proceedings.

The decision, reached in 41 minutes by the five women and seven men on the jury, ended a three-day trial before Judge Julian Hughes. The total was $4,200 over what the city had offered, according to court officials.

Under the award, Mrs. Josephine Patterson is to receive $20,000 for a building located at 14-16 Main street in Niles, and $9,000 for a building at 114 Main street.

City Has New Spots For Voting

SOUTH HAVEN — Polling places for Tuesday's primary election have been changed for two of the City of South Haven's three wards.

Voters in the second ward will vote at the Scott Club, 652 Phoenix street, instead of the Aldo hotel which has been demolished since the last election while voters in the third ward will vote at the Central school gymnasium, Broadway avenue and Erie street, instead of the city recreation building. The change for the third ward was necessitated by the highway construction program.

First ward voters will continue to cast their ballot in the city council chambers, 525 Phoenix street.

There are no local issues on the City of South Haven primary ballot.

Talks Are Underway On Silencing Guns

Mid-East Takes Steps To Peace

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Consultations were under way in the Middle East, in the United States and at the United Nations today on how and when to implement the U.S. plan for an Arab-Israeli cease-fire.

U.S. officials in Washington said the Israeli government, which accepted the plan Friday, is preparing a formal statement that should reach the State Department and President Nixon's Western White House in San Clemente Calif., within a couple of days.

As soon as the statement is received, officials said, detailed exchanges through U.S. diplomatic channels will be started between Israel and the Jordanian and Egyptian governments concerning the time and conditions for halting the shooting.

Egypt and Jordan have already accepted the U.S. plan, which was proposed June 19 by Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

GUERRILLAS OPPOSED
It has been condemned by the major Palestinian guerrilla organizations, however, and has been rejected by Syria and Iraq, although Rogers did not ask for their approval.

The plan calls for a 90-day cease-fire and for peace negotiations under U.N. mediator Gunnar Jarring of Sweden. It also requests both sides to honor the U.N. Security Council resolution of November 1967, which called on Israel to pull back its forces from Arab territory captured in the June 1967 war and asked the Arabs to recognize Israel's right to exist as a state.

Jarring is due to arrive in New York from Sweden Sunday and is expected to begin consultations immediately on the time, place and other details for opening peace negotiations.

Authorities in Washington would not predict when a cease-fire might take effect, but some indicated that it might be a matter of days.

In Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram attacked Arabs who have criticized Nasser's acceptance of the U.S. plan, but also said Israel's acceptance statement went "far beyond the U.N. Security Council resolution of 1967 and the American proposals themselves."

Al-Ahram said the statement was "vague and contained interpretations that exceed the U.N. resolution, which did not contain any reference—direct or indirect—to negotiations and contractual agreement."

This reference was to a paragraph of the Israeli statement that said Israel had decided "to appoint, at the appropriate time, a representative for peace negotiations without prior conditions under the auspices of Ambassador Gunnar Jarring" with the aim of reaching a binding contractual peace agreement.

"Egypt," the newspaper said, "which rejected several piecemeal settlement proposals in the past, had consented to the latest U.S. proposals because they were merely a procedural project for putting into effect the U.N. Security Council resolution."

Al-Ahram said Egypt's acceptance of a cease-fire was meant to give Jarring a three-month chance to work for a peace settlement "but if this fails Egypt will, after this period, be in a stronger—not weaker—position from military, political and international points of view."

'SLOGAN PEDDLERS'
In another article, Al-Ahram called Arabs who have criticized Egypt's acceptance of the plan "slogan peddlers and political auctioneers."

The paper said President Gamal Abdel Nasser had called a meeting of the executive committee of the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's only political party, to discuss the "grave issues stemming from this attitude."

Al-Ahram also said that Egypt, in accepting the American plan, "had received assurances from all powers interested in the conflict that the term 'withdrawal' is meant to encompass all territories occupied in June 1967." It did not elaborate.

Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab lands is one of the most difficult subjects Jarring will have to deal with. The Arabs say Israel must give up all occupied Arab lands, but Israel has insisted on retaining some border regions it considers essential to its security.

Another problem that troubles the Israelis is whether the Arabs will use the cease-fire to recuperate from the fighting and then launch a new offensive. Nixon said in his news conference Thursday night that the U.S. plan includes provisions to ensure that this will not happen.

The chief leader of the Palestinian guerrilla movement, Yasser Arafat, sent a personal emissary to Algeria Friday to seek support for his opposition to the cease-fire plan.

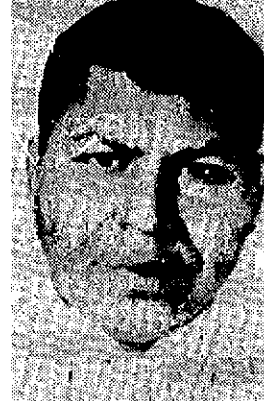

SEVERE CRISIS
Hosni el Khatib carried a message from Arafat's headquarters in Jordan to President Houari Boumedienne in Algiers, saying the Palestinian movement had been plunged into a severe crisis by Egyptian, Jordanian and Israeli acceptance of the proposal.

Apparently in a reference to Nasser, the message said: "No Arab or foreign leader has the slightest right to speak in the name of the Palestine people, to dispose of its cause or its national territory."

The Algerian News Agency, which distributed the message, also said Boumedienne had received a message from Iraqi President Ahmed Hassan El Bakr urging "rejection of the American proposals in form and substance with regard to our cause."

Another guerrilla leader, Dr. George Habash of the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, criticized Egypt and said in Amman that the Arab masses "will foil all plots aimed at liquidating the Palestinian cause and resistance."

Sudan's foreign minister, Mustafa Tahir, welcomed the U.S. peace initiative, saying in Beirut that Egypt's acceptance was "a wise and flexible step" which did not endanger Arab rights.
